2. COMMUNITY PROFILE & HISTORY

The Town of Gibraltar, which includes the unincorporated communities of Fish Creek, Juddville, and Maple Grove, is centrally located in northern Door County, just 90 minutes from Green Bay, Wisconsin. Officially established in 1857, early settlers recognized the immense potential of Gibraltar's location and resources. Today, with its mix of breathtaking landscapes, rich history, and nostalgic character, it is easy to see why the unique charm of this community continues to captivate approximately 1,060 year-round residents, a number that nearly triples itself when seasonal residents return "home" for the summer.

At the heart of Gibraltar is the village area of Fish Creek. Like a scene taken from a Currier and Ives print, white clapboard buildings still stand along the tree lined streets, telling the story of the Town's beginnings as a fishing village. On the bay, sailboats glide through the blue waters set against the pristine backdrop of Peninsula State Park, Chambers Island and a series of smaller islands. Places of historical significance, such as the Alexander Noble House Museum, the Old Town Hall and several structures listed on the National Register of Historic Places, keep the town deeply rooted in its identity. Meanwhile, the flurry of activity during the summer tourist season illustrates the Town's dedication to mindful progress and responsible growth without sacrificing the essence of who we are as a community.

In the rural areas of the township, Door County tradition lives on. Farmers tend to their crops and livestock; working orchards and farm markets offer cherries, apples and other local produce; local artists exhibit their work in off-the-beaten path studio-galleries; and residential areas provide local residents with a quiet retreat at the end of the day.

Life in Gibraltar has a rhythm, a palpable ebb and flow that fully embodies the phrase "North of the tension line," a phrase that has been used to describe life in Door County. A vacation playground for generations, the area draws millions of visitors each year. The waterfront village area is filled with small summer cottages and inns nestled under limestone bluffs of the Niagara escarpment that lines a panoramic water view. Tourists stroll the streets, meandering in and out of small shops filled with gifts, clothing, pottery, artwork and hand-loomed woolens. Outdoor pursuits and recreational resources abound with golf courses, sandy beaches, water access for boating and fishing, and a state park designed for camping, biking, hiking and exploring. Although the shoulder seasons of spring and fall continue to see an increase in activity, there is something special about the quietness of the "off season," a chance for the locals and business owners to catch their breath after a busy season and reconnect with their community.

With its vibrant energy, strong historical ties, and a distinct Door County character all its own, the Town of Gibraltar epitomizes "small town charm" in an inimitable way that continues to draw people back whether it is for a weekend, a season, or a lifetime.
